SAVED NEGRO HE WANTED HANGED

TEXAS SOLDIER OF FORTUNE DE-FIED MOB THAT THREAT-ENED LYNCHING.

CAREER IS LIKE A NOVEL

Reece Fowler, Who Has Gained Fame in Nicaragua, Known for His Bravery and Daring Deeds in Lone Star State.

San Antonio, Tex.—Godfrey Reece Fowler, who has just attained much fame in the revolutionary arm of Nicaragua at the head of the Estrada forces, is well known in San Antonio. About three years ago he came to San Antonio quietly and tried to enlist a number of former Philippine veterans for service in a Central American revolution which was planned. To some he offered commissions and to others he offered places in the ranks at attractive salaries. He secured five men here. They went to Central America, but the revolution failed to develop and he returned to Texas.

Mr. Fowler enlisted in the Thirty-third Infantry at San Antonio, where it was being organized by Col. Luther R. Hare, and during that time he made many friends. In outward appearance he gives no evidence of being a man loving daring adventure and seems to fit perfectly into the non-exciting place of court reporter.

His history has been one of romance. Even before the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he had a reputation in the Texas militia.

An incident which occurred while he was commanding a company which was sent to protect a negro from mob violence shows admirably the make-up of the man.

He was at that time the commander of a company at Palestine. He was ordered to Henderson to protect a negro from mob violence. The negro was found there and rushed to the penitentiary to avoid a mob which was coming down from Longview. All east Texas was in a fever heat. After a day spent at Rusk the troops carried the negro to Nacogdoches. When that town was reached the company marched into a mob of 5,000 enraged citizens.

Fowler was not excited. He placed the negro in the center of the company and began the march to the jail. The citizens surrounded the company and hooted and jeered and threatened to take the negro away. Fixed bayonets was all that kept them back. When Fowler reached the jail steps and had the negro safely on the inside he turned to the mob and said:

"You men can all go to h—l. I'd like to see this nigger hung as much

Positively Rude.

A rich woman from New York angrily declined to become a patron of a Los Angeles hotel when she was informed that her doggie would not be permitted to receive massage treatments in the barber shop. Aren't some hotelkeepers independent!

Discerning Thought.

Thoughts put on paper are nothing more than footprints in the sand; you see the way the man has gone, but to know what he saw on his walk you want his eyes.—Schopenhauer.

Cucumbers Classified.

A New York magistrate has ruled that cucumbers are fruit and may be sold on Sunday like green apples. They frequently have a similar effect.

Not Really Camel's Hair.

Camelshair brushes are not made from the hair of camels, but from the tails of Russian and Siberian squirrels.

Neglected Point.

Shakespeare says that we are creatures that look before and after. The more surprising that we do not look around a little, and see what is passing under our very eyes.—Carlyle.

Ancients' New War Bonnet.

The Ancients have decided to substitute for their helmet a cap of German pattern. A move for lightening equipment is general throughout the military world.—Boston Record.

Our Business in This World.

Our business in this world is not to succeed, but to continue to fall in good spirits.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Superfine Strategy.

"Strategy in war," explained the Irish military instructor, "is when ye don't let the enemy discover that the ammunition is run out, but just kape on firing."

Overlook First Fault.

Do not blame the man who makes mistakes, unless he makes the same mistake the second time. — James Oliver.

Original Home of Honey Bee.

The common variety of bee, known as the honey-bee, is thought by some high authorities to have had its original home among the woods and mountains of central Europe.

A Plain Inquiry.

"Warden, what are most of these men doing here?" "Principally doing time, madam."

The Citizens Hooted and Jeered.

as you would, but you fellows are not going to hang him."

Although the mob was infuriated to a high pitch and although Fowler's tone and words were not calculated to pour oil on troubled waters, the men stood there quietly, although armed with shotguns and pistols, and after a time dispersed. The negro was hanged the next afternoon, but it was only after he was tried at a special term of the district court convened by the district judge and legally convicted.

Fowler is only 33 years old. He holds a commission as major on Gov. Campbell's staff. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he was captain and quartermaster in the Texas militia. When the Second Texas Infantry was mustered in he was assigned to command a company and served in Cuba under Col. L. M. Openheimer. After the Spanish-American war he went to the Philippines as a captain in the Thirty-third volunteer regiment commanded by Col. Luther R. Hare.

For bravery in action in capturing the pueblo of Vigan in the Philippines he was breveted major. He was mentioned on more than ten occasions for bravery on the field of action.

He also distinguished himself in the Philippines for his defense at a pueblo called San Antonio. He held this three days against an overwhelming force of "goo-gos" until reinforcements came.
